ELAC Discussion

1. English Learner Progress

The team reviewed English Learner progress data and discussed the school's goal for 52% of English Learner students to demonstrate progress toward English proficiency.

Staff shared that all three Elev8 schools demonstrated significant growth and were close to meeting the 52% target.

The group discussed the importance of continuing to support students who have not yet demonstrated expected progress toward English proficiency.

Participants were asked:

What factors may be contributing to this gap, and how can we better support students who are still working toward proficiency?

Parent Feedback

Terra Greenwood recommended:

- More frequent check-ins with students and parents.
- Regularly reviewing student goals with families.
- Discussing specific strategies students can use to make progress toward English proficiency.
- Increasing direct communication with families regarding student progress.

Student Feedback

Kiyo recommended:

- Creating study groups for students who may be struggling.
- Pairing students who need additional support with students who are making strong progress.
- Including teachers in study groups to help explain challenging concepts and provide additional academic support.
- Using peer-to-peer support to help students feel more comfortable asking questions and learning from one another.

Staff Response

Gabrielle McCord thanked participants for their feedback and specifically noted that the study group and peer-support model could be an excellent approach for supporting student progress.

2. New Supports for Multilingual Learners

The school shared several supports that have already been added or strengthened based on previous parent and family feedback.

These included:

- Chairperson
- Vice Chairperson
- Secretary

Parents and caregivers were encouraged to consider participating in leadership roles and helping guide future ELAC meetings and discussions.

6. Family Engagement and Meeting Format

Gabrielle McCord explained that ELAC and PAC meetings are intentionally being held in a smaller, more interactive format this year.

Previous parent feedback indicated that some families did not feel comfortable speaking or participating in meetings with approximately 60–100 attendees.

The goal of the smaller meeting format is to:

- Encourage more parent and student participation.
- Create a welcoming environment where families feel comfortable speaking.
- Promote meaningful conversation rather than one-way information sharing.
- Give parents and students a stronger voice in school decisions.
- Build stronger relationships between families and school staff.

7. LCAP Discussion and Feedback

Participants were asked:

How do you believe our school can achieve its LCAP goals?

Discussion included the importance of:

- Increasing parent and student communication.
- Providing early academic intervention.
- Monitoring English Learner progress consistently.
- Identifying students who are struggling before they fall further behind.
- Strengthening academic support and tutoring opportunities.
- Continuing to improve engagement with families.

Participants were also asked:

Knowing that these resources are meant to increase student achievement and support specific student groups, what priorities or programs do you think would make the biggest impact for our students this year?

Feedback included:

- High-dosage tutoring.
- Targeted mental health programs.
- Additional academic intervention.
- Study groups.
- Peer mentoring and peer academic support.
- Increased direct outreach to students who are struggling.

8. Feedback Survey

Participants were asked to complete the Q1 ELAC/LCAP Survey.

The survey gathered feedback regarding:

- Supports currently helping English Learners.
- Additional supports that may improve student success.
